Big picture thinking to the smallest detail. This statement sums up the design approach of Linda Engler and Talla Skogmo, cofounders of Engler Skogmo Interior Design. In the years following their education at the University of Minnesota, Linda and Talla's paths continued to cross in Twin Cities design circles as they advanced their careers. The two came to realize that they shared very similar design and business philosophies and ultimately decided to turn serendipity into success by combining their years of experience to form Engler Skogmo Interior Design in 2003. "The enthusiastic support we received from the design community, vendors, and clients was remarkable and heart warming" says Talla of the firm's launch.

Balancing a successful business with busy family lives, Linda and Talla have grown Engler Skogmo into a team of seven professionals working out of their studio in Edina, Minnesota. With a client base primarily in the Twin Cities, this ASID award winning firm's work can also be found across the region and the country. "Our business is human" says Linda. "We develop a deep understanding of our clients that often ends in friendship." In addition to the design awards, the firm's work has appeared in local and national publications.
